FruibiSoda

Marketing Strategy

Target Audience

Fruibi Soda is all about community, inclusion, and having a good time—whether that's in the middle of a neon-lit rave, dancing under the stars at a festival, or just vibing with friends on a warm summer evening. And let's be real, where there's fun, there's usually alcohol. But not everyone wants to go full send with the booze. Some people are just looking to dial it down a notch, or maybe even skip the alcohol entirely, without having to awkwardly hold a water bottle while everyone else raises their beers. Enter Fruibi Soda: the drink that lets you keep up with the party, no alcohol required.

Our main audience? The party legends—the people who live for open-airs, club nights, and music festivals. They're out there, dancing until sunrise, making memories, and keeping the energy high. But hey, not every party hero wants to be knocked out drunk two hours in. Fruibi Soda is their perfect sidekick—whether they're pacing themselves, taking a break between rounds, or skipping alcohol altogether, this drink makes sure they stay in the game without missing a beat. No more feeling left out just because you're not sipping on something alcoholic.

But wait, what about the people who aren't festival warriors or club regulars? We see you too! Fruibi Soda isn't just for neon lights and loud bass—it's also the perfect refreshment for the everyday good times. Chilling at the beach? Fruibi fits right in. Kicking back in the backyard on a hot afternoon? Say less. Need a little pick-me-up during work but don't want another coffee? Fruibi's got your back. Our secondary audience is made up of people who just want a drink that's fun, refreshing, and fits into their lifestyle—no strobe lights required. Whether you're in full party mode or just soaking up the sun with friends, Fruibi Soda is here to be your go-to good time in a bottle.

Media Strategy

So, how do we make sure Fruibi Soda finds its way into the hands of the right people? We get right into the heart of where the action is. First stop: festivals, club nights, raves, and open-air events—anywhere the music is loud, and the vibes are high. Fruibi sample stands at festival entrances, inside club venues, and scattered across party hotspots. People try it, love it, and share it with their friends and even some cool strangers. Boom. A new fan is born. We want Fruibi to become part of the party culture—something people reach for just as naturally as a beer or a cocktail.

But we're not stopping at just showing up to the party. We're making sure Fruibi's presence is felt before people even get there. Posters? Everywhere. Outside clubs, along festival routes, on busy streets leading to the action, at train stations where partygoers pass through on their way to the next big event. And here's the best part—those posters don't just reach our party crew. Our secondary audience—the beach chillers, the backyard relaxers, the "I just want a fun drink at work" crowd—will catch a glimpse too. Fruibi Soda's playful, colorful branding and fun messaging will stick in their minds, so when they see it in stores or at an event, they'll think, "Oh yeah, that looks fun. Let's try it."

We're not just putting a drink out there; we're building a movement. A community. A culture of people who want to have fun—on their own terms.

"No one gets left out"

That's not just a tagline—it's the heart of what Fruibi Soda stands for. Whether you're deep in the party scene, the designated driver keeping the squad together, or just someone who wants a good time without the booze, Fruibi is here to make sure everyone's included. No more awkwardly standing there with a soda that screams "I'M NOT DRINKING" while everyone else cheers with their cocktails. With Fruibi, you're still in the mix, part of the fun, and always raising a glass (or a bottle) to good times. Because when it comes to having fun, nobody should feel left out.

#FruibiMoments

To tie everything together and make Fruibi Soda the drink everyone's talking about, we're launching the #FruibiMoments campaign. This social-driven movement encourages people to capture and share their best Fruibi-fueled experiences, whether that's at a festival, on the beach, or just chilling with friends. By tagging #FruibiMoments, users can get featured on our official pages, win cool merch, or even score free Fruibi for their next event.

We'll partner with influencers, festival hosts, and event organizers to spread the word, making Fruibi Soda not just a drink, but a staple of fun times everywhere. And to drive home the inclusivity message, we'll run short video ads showing different types of people enjoying Fruibi in their own way—whether they're partying hard, taking it easy, or just making the most of the moment. With #FruibiMoments, we're making sure that no matter where you are or how you celebrate, you're always part of the fun.

Logo variants

Fruibi Soda has multiple itirations of the logo, all of them designed to keep the fresh summer vibe of the whole campaign.

FruibiSoda

FruibiSoda

FruibiSoda

FruibiSoda